ECTS credits system

The standard student workload for the entire academic year in the full-time form of study is 60 credits (or 30 credits for each semester).

The student obtains credits after successful completion of the course. It is possible to obtain credits for a given subject only once during the study of one study programme.

If a full-time student or an external form student admitted to study according to the study programmes want to continue their studies, they must:

- a) at the end of the first semester, prove successful completion of at least two compulsory subjects and obtain at least 15 credits for successfully completed subjects,
- b) in each year of study, obtain a total of at least 40 credits for successfully completed subjects for the winter and summer semesters, unless the student only needs to take the state exam.

It is not obligatory to get exactly 30 credits for each semester, for example in one semester you can get 32 credits, in the next semester 28 credits. For 4 years of PhD. study, it is necessary to obtain 240 credits.

Academic information system AIS

AIS - Academic Information System is a system that is used for electronic processing of the entire study agenda. The information system makes it possible to minimize visits to the study department, since most tasks can be done by a student or teacher from home.

It is only possible up to 2 weeks after the semester has begun is it to enter subjects into the system or delete them. After "closing AIS", the subjects can no longer be changed.

<https://ais2.uniba.sk/ais/start.do>

AIS mobile application

The mobile application for Android offers students an easier and more convenient way to do the most common activities from the AIS system. This page will make it easier for you to enroll in exams, view your ratings, as well as check the number of credits without a long click.

Enrollment of subjects

Each study programme has its own recommended study plan, which contains a list of compulsory, compulsory elective and elective subjects for each semester. By default, you will register subjects according to this plan.

If you are interested, you can also enroll in subjects intended for another year of study or from other study programs. Before enrolling such subjects, however, we recommend that you look at their prerequisites and consult with a tutor or course instructor.

You can also enroll in subjects from another faculty of CU. First of all, it is necessary to get consent from the instructor of this subject.

The enrollment of subjects (for the entire academic year) takes place electronically via the academic system AIS. You can also have enrolled subjects recorded in the index if you decide that you also want to have your marks in written form. If you do not want to write them down by hand, the teacher is obliged to write a mark for you in their consultation hours (or by agreement by e-mail). They will then issue you a protocol on the study plan at the study department.

In the first two weeks of each semester, it is possible to change already registered subjects due to e.g. time conflicts in the schedule.

Grades and passing subjects

- ✓ The student is obliged to complete the educational activities listed in the information sheet of the course.
- ✓ The basic rule is that for your studies, you must complete all compulsory and chosen compulsory elective subjects according to the rules determined by the study programme (usually you need to collect a certain number of credits from a group of subjects).
- ✓ The course is successfully completed if the student has obtained a grade of A to E. The student will receive credits only for the successfully completed course.
- ✓ Students who have been assessed from the subject with a mark of FX have the right to two corrective terms (if he/she meets the conditions of the continuous assessment). If the student does not meet the conditions of the continuous assessment, he/she is assessed with a mark of FX without any possibility of taking the final exam.

Course evaluation

- A - excellent
- B - very good
- C - good
- D - satisfactory
- E - sufficient
- Fx - insufficient

Scholarships

Regular monthly scholarship for PhD. students

- Each PhD. student automatically receives a monthly scholarship of approximately 800-1000 Euros during his / her studies

A special, one-time scholarship for PhD. students is awarded by the Dean of the faculty:

- On the basis of the proposal of the scholarship committee, the doctoral student is awarded a one-time special scholarship, which can be provided in accordance with the faculty scholarship regulations to an exceptionally gifted and talented student, a student with a particularly unfavourable social situation or a student with severe disabilities and the social situation. Proposals for the award are submitted on the prescribed form by the head of the section, the guarantors of individual degrees, the head of the departments, etc. The amount of the scholarship is determined by the Dean of the faculty.

Dean's Award:

The Dean may award bachelor's, master's, and doctoral students with outstanding academic results or outstanding professional, scientific, research, artistic or sporting activities. The Dean's Award is associated with the award of a one-time special scholarship. The amount of the scholarship is determined by the Dean of the faculty.

The Dean of the faculty will decide whether an extraordinary one-time scholarship will be paid in a given academic year. The Dean of the faculty may adjust the possibility and amount of payment of this type of scholarship depending on the financial resources of the scholarship fund of the faculty. The student has no legal right to be awarded a one-time special scholarship. The Dean's decision on his admission is final!

Proposals for the award of scholarships are submitted by the head of the department according to other current instructions from the Management of PriF UK. The proposal also includes a screen shot from the EPC, which clearly declares the actual issue of the publication (not status in press). Failure to comply with the formal requirements of the proposal is a reason for its exclusion from administration.

All of the publications registered in ToR must be registered in the Library of Faculty of Natural Sciences (if you study at the external educational institution of the Slovak Academy of Sciences, you must register your publications in the library of SAS and after that in the library of FNS too.)
